RISK AND FINANCE

MODULAR EXECUTIVE MBA IN BUSINESS & IT

Based on what information do managers assess risks and make decisions about finance? In what way is IT taken into account in the decision making process? Senior managers, CIOs and IT entrepreneurs need to have a good understanding of the domain Risk & Finance in order to support financial decision-making and manage risk. Next to this, managers from other functional domains need to have a good understanding of the IT perspectives of Risk & Finance. This understanding concerns various aspects of financial management in modern business & IT, embedded in a set of fundamental theories from the corporate finance and risk domain. The module consists of a balanced mix of theoretical concepts and best practices in the area of risk & finance, especially around IT investment.
